PawLog ("we", "the app") helps you organize pet care. This policy explains what data the app handles. It covers the PawLog app on both Android and iOS; where the two platforms differ, both are described.

Data stored on your device

PawLog stores your pet profiles, care logs (including any photos you attach), reminders, and settings locally on your device. This data is not transmitted to us or any third party — PawLog has no servers of its own.

If you have your device's built-in backup enabled, that backup includes PawLog's data and goes to your own account with the platform provider — your Google account on Android, your iCloud account on iOS — encrypted in transit. We cannot access it. On Android the automatic backup excludes photos (device-to-device transfers when you set up a new phone include them); on iOS an iCloud Backup includes the app's photos as well.

Data you choose to export/share

- Export/Backup: you can export a file containing your data (photos included) to a location you choose — including your own cloud storage, such as Google Drive or OneDrive on Android, or iCloud Drive on iOS. That file is controlled entirely by you.
- Vet summary share / PDF: when you share or export a summary, it goes only to the app or recipient you select.
- Photos: chosen from your device with the system photo picker (the Android photo picker, or the iOS photo picker); PawLog accesses only the images you pick.

Location (optional, Plus)

You can optionally attach a location (a short place name plus coordinates) to a care log. A location is captured only when you tap "Add location" on a log — PawLog never tracks or records your location in the background. Captured locations are stored only on your device (and inside backup files you create yourself) and are never transmitted to us or anyone else. You can remove a log's location at any time, and you can decline the location permission — everything else keeps working.

Permissions

- Notifications — to alert you at reminder times.

- Exact alarms (Android only) — so time-critical care reminders fire on time.
- Approximate location (optional) — only used at the moment you tap "Add location" on a log; see the Location section above.

Health disclaimer

PawLog helps organize information. It does not diagnose conditions and does not replace a veterinarian.

Children

PawLog is not directed to children under 13.

PawLog Plus (subscription)

PawLog Plus is an optional auto-renewing subscription that unlocks features (multiple pets, photo attachments, PDF vet summaries, longer history). It is processed entirely by the store you installed the app from — Google Play billing on Android, Apple's App Store billing on iOS. We never see or store your payment details, and the subscription does not send your pet data off the device.
